

To All Things

By Séamus Maynard

It's one of those days
With the kind of beauty that could break
It's one of those days
Of crystal I would drink
If I could find a way
To encapsulate the beauty pouring through it all

I'd have a way to bring love to everything
I'd have a way to bring love to everyday
I'd have a way to bring love to all things

And it's one of those days
Like a child gazing grace into your face
It's one of those days
That touches the horizon
It's one of those days
That in-spite of everything
Hears you saying

I wanna find a way to bring love to everything
I wanna find a way to bring love to everyday
I wanna find a way to bring love to all things

And the sky's so bright
It's just like seeing with new eyes
All thoughts confined to darkness
Love has tossed aside
Just being alive can feel like flying sometimes
Sometimes

And it's one of those days
That lifts old doldrum from his grave
It's one of those days
That blows a kiss in cynic's face
It's one of those days that
In spite of everything
Hears you saying

I wanna find a way to bring love to everything
I wanna find a way to bring love to everyday
I wanna find a way to bring love to all things

And the sky's so bright
It's just like seeing with new eyes
All thoughts confined to darkness
Love has tossed aside
Just being alive can feel like flying sometimes
Sometimes
Sometimes.

Beyond

By Séamus Maynard

On beyond the limits of this world
We may find ourselves living in a song
On and on past the prisons of this world that we create
We may find it rising in us like the dawn

From far beyond
Love's song calls softly
Calls upon us all to wake

On beyond empty reaches of this world
We may find ourselves reflected in the stars
On and on from distant heights through earthly strife
We may find aligning in us who we are

From far beyond
Love's song calls softly
Calls upon us all to wake
